

NO DISTRACTIONS!
Drivers should pay attention to the road ahead

Advice for drivers

Drivers need to be attentive while driving. Using mobile phones or other electronic devices while driving (such as checking messages, browsing websites or playing mobile games) is distracting and impairs your driving performance, particularly your ability to respond in handling an emergency. Drivers using electronic devices while driving may break the law and also endanger themselves and other road users.

Safety tips

09:50

Drive attentively. Always pay attention to the road ahead and stay vigilant.

Avoid using mobile phones or other electronic devices while driving. If you need to use mobile phone, you should stop at a safe place or ask your passenger to help you. 👍

10:02

Drivers who have a genuine need to make calls from mobile phones while driving should use a hands-free device. However, talking on a hands-free device can also be distracting, so conversations should be kept to a minimum. 🚗📞

Do not read, watch videos or use mobile applications while driving.

10:03

If you wish to use a navigation system, programme it before moving off to avoid operating it while driving. 😊

10:05

Do not wear earphones while driving or play your car audio system too loudly as these will hinder you from hearing important sounds outside the car, such as horns and sirens from emergency vehicles and other vehicles.
