Your car is not a phone booth...

A new law

- To enhance road safety, a new law will be introduced to ban the use of hand-held mobile phones or similar telecommunications equipment by drivers while vehicles are in motion.
- From July 1, 2000, motorists will be prohibited from using hand-held mobile phones, or holding phones between the head and shoulder, whether communicating or not, while their vehicles are in motion.

Why is it needed ?

- For safety's sake, keep your hands on the steering wheel. Don't phone and drive.

When does the new law take effect ?

- The use of hand-held mobile phones by drivers while vehicles are in motion will be prohibited from July 1, 2000.
- The use of other similar hand-held telecommunications equipment, including radiophones, by drivers while vehicles are in motion will be prohibited from July 1, 2001.

Penalty

- A breach of the new law can lead to a maximum fine of $2,000.

Safety tips

- Do not use mobile phones while driving.
- If you need to make a call or answer the phone, stop at a safe place or ask a passenger to make a call or answer the phone for you.
- Motorists who have a real need to use mobile phones while driving should install a hands-free kit in their vehicles.
